| 9:15 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. | Ethical Decision Making for New Deans

Deans and other academic leaders are faced with a myriad of decisions every day, with short or long-term implications. How does a leader discern between competing interests? How do mutual concerns and interests inform daily decision-making? |
| 12:00 – 1:30 p.m. | Lunch on your own

Enjoy one of the many restaurants in the neighborhood. |
| 1:30 – 3:00 p.m. | Introduction to Strategic Enrollment Management
(Plenary session including Fellows and Mentors)

Deans as well as other academic leaders at all levels are increasingly involved in enrollment management decisions, and are increasingly concerned about enrollment impacts on budgets and other resources. This session is designed to introduce participants to the concept of strategic enrollment management, which includes the use of data and best practices for decision-making. |
